OLD SHESHEQUIN DAY.

Historical Society Had a Most Interesting Meeting.

DESCENDANTS OF PIONEERS.

History of One of the Largest Townships in the County Was Discussed and Relics of Its Early Settlers Were Exhibited—The Program.

The meeting of the Bradford County Historical society, held Saturday afternoon in the society's museum building in the court house square, was one of absorbing interest and historical value to the large number present. Features of unusual attractiveness were numerous and aroused new enthusiasm among the members. The history of Sheshequin was the special topic.

After a short address of welcome, Secretary C. F. Heverly called a roll of pioneers of Sheshequin, early settlers, and revolutionary soldiers as follows: Coming to Sheshequin 125 years ago there were General Spaulding, the real founder of the settlement, five descendants present yesterday; Joseph Kinney, one descendant present, John Newell, a revolutionary soldier, nine descendants, Judge Obadiah Gore, three descendants. Coming 121 years ago, Captain Jeremiah Shaw, one descendant present; 117 years ago, W. W. Spaulding, two descendants; 116 years ago, Elijah Horton, 11 descendants, Benjamin Brink, one descendant; coming 113 years ago, Colonel Joseph Kingsbury, one descendant, coming 113 years ago, Elijah Towner, one descendant present, (a grandson); coming 107 years ago, James Shores, five descendants; coming 104 years ago, Jesse Smith, one descendant; coming 100 years ago, J. C. Forbes, one descendant; 92 years ago, John Elliott, one descendant; 90 years ago, John Ditrich, a Hessian soldier, who joined the American ranks, one descendant; 87 years ago, Warren Gillett, one descendant, Andrew Delpeuch, a Frenchman and a great friend of General Lafayette, one descendant, John Thompson, a soldier of the war of 1812, two descendants; 83 years ago, Jesse Brown, one descendant; 80 years ago, Jervis Tompkins, one descendant, 72 years ago, Thomas Johnson, a soldier of the war of 1812; 70 years ago, Andrew Webb, one descendant.

Following the interesting roll call a musical and literary program was given. Miss Louise Myer rendered a pleasing solo, Miss Lucy Sweet being the accompanist; a song "No Days Like the Old Days," by Captain G. W. Kilmer, was much appreciated, this being followed by a vocal solo by Miss Lucy Sweet.

Major W. H. H. Gore of Athens, a descendant of Judge Gore, made an interesting address, and exhibited a ledger belonging to Judge Gore containing entries dated 1791. David Horton gave some highly interesting recollections and anecdotes as passed down in his family from the early days. Joseph Towner exhibited a piece of continental money, value $40, which had been part of the pay received from the government by Elijah Towner, a soldier in the Continental army. The old bill was uniquely framed in such a way that both sides of the "shin plaster" were visible.

A vote of thanks was given to all those who had assisted to make the meeting of such interest and instructiveness.

The Sheshequin settlement was founded just 127 years ago this month. The Indian interpretation of the name is said to be "the place of the rattle," and the locality is supposed to have been the home of a famous "Medicine Man."

DR. HOUGHTON, BOSS ANGLER.

Caught Biggest Muskalonge of Season at Thousand Islands.

Dr. O. A. Houghton, pastor of the Towanda M. E. church, spent his vacation at his cottage at Thousand Island Park. He has proved himself the boss fisherman of all that water, for on Tuesday of last week, in company with J. T. Jackson of Metuchen, N. J., and a boatman, trolling with spoon hooks, he caught a great muskalonge. The "catch" was ten pickerel, the largest weighing eight pounds, and a muskalonge weighing 40 pounds when taken from the water. It took both the fishermen and the boatman to get the monster in the boat.

The fish crushed the spoon and two of the hooks thereon, but hanging by the third hook he was lifted into the boat. He was just four feet and six inches long and weighed 40 pounds when captured. It is the largest fish taken there this season.

Dr. Houghton in writing to a friend says that his fish story is not a "fish story" in the usual understanding of that term, and he promises a photograph of the fish with himself, Mr. Jackson and their boatman.

P., B. & E. DIRECTORS MET IN TOWANDA YESTERDAY.

Authorized Meeting of Stockholders to Merge Three Companies.

A meeting of the directors of the Pittsburg, Binghamton & Eastern Railroad company was held at the general offices of the company in Towanda Wednesday, Aug. 22, for the purpose of authorizing a call for a meeting of the stockholders on Sept. 11, for the purpose of voting upon and ratifying the merger of the P., B. & E., the Tioga & Clinton and the Susquehanna Central railroad companies.

No information as to the extent or location of the two companies it is proposed to merge in the P., B. & E. would be given out by any of the party, but it is understood they are links in the through line toward Pittsburg. The party numbered 19 and comprised the stockholders and directors of the company. They came through in automobiles on a tour of inspection of the work from Canton to Towanda, and took dinner at one of the construction camps.

President Sawyer reports business booming along the line, there being 700 men employed in construction in the valley between Powell and Canton. The route out of Canton westward, which has caused the company some concern, has not been definitely determined as yet, but a decision will be made concerning the several surveys through that borough sometime next week. As soon as that matter is settled, working plans for the line west of Canton will be prepared, and a construction force put to work on that division.

The Canton Sentinel tells in the following about the first railroad tracks run through the main streets of that borough: "Cantonians were treated to a novel sight Sunday and Monday when the Holbrook, Cabot & Rollins corporation unloaded their mammoth 60 ton steam shovel from the Pennsylvania railroad tracks here and Monday they were moving it through the principal streets of the town to a point near East Canton, where it is to be used in the big cuts between here and that point. A track had to be laid and then the shovel, under its own steam, would run a short distance and then the tracks removed and laid again. It makes a very slow way and it is said it will be 10 days in going the two miles."

MAKING READY FOR THE CAPITOL'S DEDICATION.

Orders Issued That Everything About Grounds Be Completed Sept. 25.

A Harrisburg special says that Superintendent of Public Grounds and Buildings Shumaker has given orders that the contractors of the outside improvements to be made to the capitol grounds in anticipation of the delication on Oct. 4, shall complete their work by Sept. 25. This will include all the driveways and will necessitate some tall hustling on the part of George F. Payne & Co.

The contractors are putting down a driveway the entire length of the capitol, parallel with Third street and connecting with the drives from the State street entrance. This driveway will be nearly 100 feet wide and will form a plaza in front of the building. The work in front of the capitol will be hastened.

Base Ball For Owego.

Owego will have a fast base ball team in the field for the balance of the season; James Brodie of Binghamton, has the matter in charge, and is out with offers to good, fast men. The team it is expected will be complete and organized in a few days. First baseman Wilbur, let out by Binghamton, has signed and also Neil Sullivan, the fast pitcher formerly with Hornell in the Inter-State League and more recently with the Oneonta team.

CRUEL CIRCULAR SAW CLEAVES WHITE'S SKULL.

While at Work in West Virginia Mill Towanda Man Meets Fearful Death.

James White of North Towanda, a son of C. E. White, who went to Montes, West Virginia, to work in a saw mill operated by Hill & Brown, a Towanda firm, met a horrible death on Friday last. His skull was split open by a huge circular saw, death being instantaneuos. The body was brought to this place on Sunday for interment.

White, who was an experienced lumberman and sawyer, went underneath the mill, as the big saw was running, to make repairs to another part of the machinery. When at a point directly under the saw, the unfortunate man forgot, apparently, that the mill was operating and raised his head coming in contact with the fearful flashing steel teeth. His skull was cleft like a piece of wood in an instant.

White was over 50 years of age, and is survived by a wife and several daughters, who have been living at Wilkes-Barre. A sister here is also left. The funeral services were held Sunday afternoon.

The day was an appropriate one for such exercises, and carriages from Towanda were numerous and well filled.

The principal address was made by Rev. David Craft of Angelica, N. Y., who was chaplain of the old One Hundred Forty-first Regiment, to which General Madill belonged.

STATE AID STREETS FOR WYALUSING BOROUGH.

Citizens of Down the River Town Are Taking Advantage of New Law.

The citizens of Wyalusing borough are taking advantage of their opportunity of securing good streets through the assistance of the state, and a petition is being circulated in the borough, which is receiving the signatures of the taxptyers as fast as they can be seen, asking for such assitance for Taylor avenue from the borough line down said avenue and Main street to the creek bridge; also for State street from the creek bridge to the borough line on the Vaughan Hill road. Both of these streets connect with the state-aid roads which Wyalusing township is asking the state to build.

ANOTHER LAD KILLED AT WAVERLY.

Black Diamond Express Cuts Down Nine Years Old Lavere Huckle.

Lavere Huckle, the nine years old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Huckle, of Waverly, was struck by the Black Diamond express Saturday afternoon about 3 o'clock and instantly killed. The little fellow had been sent on an errand to deliver a watch to a Lehigh fireman at the East Waverly depot. He was accompanied by a younger brother, and in order to reach his destination he had to cross the tracks. He left his brother at the depot and at the time there was a freight passing, when the caboose passed him he started across and stepped right in the path of the Lehigh "flyer." His body was terribly mangled and the top of his head was completely severed below the eyes.

ANOTHER MURDER.

C. E. Messenger, Athens Bridge Works Firemen Stabbed.

CRIME COMMITTED AT NIGHT.

Bradford County Scene Again of Tragedy—Police Believe Murder Work of Revengeful Italians With Whom Messenger Had Trouble.

Bradford county has another murder to blot the pages of its history. C. E. Messenger, night fireman of the Athens plant of the American Bridge company, was stabbed to death while at his work, between 12 and 1 o'clock Wednesday morning. Nearly a dozen deep knife wounds were inflicted, the fireman being attacked while alone in the boiler room. The body was found near the door leading from the furnaces to the boiler room and there were signs of a desperate struggle.

The police have no clue, but are working on the theory that the foul deed is the work of Italians, with two of whom Messenger is said to have had trouble some time ago, threats being made on his life at that time. Fireman Messenger and Night Watchman M. J. Nasbrough had conversation about 11 o'clock last night, and shortly before midnight, Nasbrough, the watchman, went to his home a short distance away to get his lunch. When he returned to make his 1 o'clock rounds, he stumbled upon the dead body of his fellow workman. Nasbrough at once notified the police and an investigation was immediately began, which, it is believed will lead to speedy arrests.

Messenger's body was literally carved. The first wounds seem to have been inflicted in the back, between the shoulder blades, and the weapon was undoubtedly a long bladed knife. One stab was directly into the heart, and other slashes cut the man's arms and shoulders in a fearful manner.

The murdered fireman was about 45 years of age and is survived by his wife and four small children. He lived in Satterly street, near the Bridge works. The body was removed to Roger & Miller's undertaking rooms, pending the coroner's investigation.

GRAND JURY'S REPORT AND RECOMMENDATIONS.

County Buildings Well Kept—Suggest Female Attendant at Burlington.

The grand jury brought their labors to a clost at 6 o'clock on Thursday, after having put in a long day, the work of that day includnig the regular visits to the county poor farm at Burlington and the jail in this borough.

Dr. H. N. Moody of Smithfield, was made foreman pro tem, Foreman Omera Shepard being excused by the court at the conclusion of the Burlington inspection.

The report as filed in the prothonotary's office is as follows "The grand jury respectfully reports: That we have examined the county buildings at Towanda and at Burlington, and that the respective officials having the same in charge are performing their several duties in a manner satisfactory to the taxpayers of the county. All the buildings and premises are neat, clean, and present a sanitary and attractive appearance. The county charges both in the county house and jail are kept and maintained in a humane manner.

"We suggest, however, that at least one more light be placed in the corridor of the jail, as the present lighting is insufficient. It appears to the grand jury that it would be proper for the commissioners to employ a suitable female attendant permanently at the county house so that better attention and care could be given to the female inmates, the aged paupers and any who might be ill."

COLEMAN, DEFEATED, MUST BEGIN AGAIN.

Loses Case in Court and Fails to Pay Costs—New Complications.

The unfortunate Italian, Salvadore, having been disposed of, another son of sunny Italy is on hand to occupy the activities of Constable Guy C. Hollon and atorneys who take interest in these matters. Constable Hollon returned Sunday from Easton, bringing William Coleman as a prisoner charged with two counts; he is arrested because of a warrant issued by a landlady who accuses Coleman of jumping a board bill, and also on a bench warrant requiring the payment of the costs in a case decided against Coleman by last weeks' grand pury.

Coleman had one Carmini Zoltallo, arrested, and the jury failed to indict, placing the costs upon the complainant. Coleman then left suddenly, going it was learned to Phillipsburg, N. J., directly across the state line from Easton. Heoften came over to the latter city, however, and while in Easton Sunday he encountered the relentless Towanda sleuth, who haled him back to Bradford county with directness and dispatch. He was lodged in jail and will re-enter the legal labyrinth again this week.

Mrs. J. D. Mott of West Franklin, is in town today to meet her cousin, Mrs. L. E. Osgood, and daughter Ruth, of Lake Mills, Wis.

Just as long as the people are eager for the bargain counter, with its cheap imitations, they will be forced to accept shoddy, inferior goods for their money.

Our humanitarian impulses should more often find expression in putting out of the way at once and in as painless a manner as possible crippled, helpless or incurably sick animals in our keeping.

The New York university summer school has this year provided a special course designed to fit teachers for the giving of instruction in children's gardens, the making of them and how to care for them.

Instead of turning the flood gates loose on wash day just save the suds for the garden, as it is a valuable fertilizer and is much more presentable in bright geranium blossoms than as a morass in the back yard.

One Iowa county reports 149 farmers living within its borders using the King road drag. This was undoubtedly a locality in which there was great need of highway repentance and where the good roads "gospel" was earnestly preached and cordially received.

Hardly a day passes when some distressing accident is not recorded as the result of the careless use or misuse of medicines. Much grief would be prevented if the medicines were properly labeled, whether harmful or not, and placed above the reach of children. It is hard to prevent or curb a child's inquisitive nature.

That is a very practical and sensible move which has in view the addition of courses in the rudiments of agritural instruction to our public schools curricula. The course mentioned, coupled with a reasonable amount of experimental work, would seem to give promise of being not only practical and useful, but highly interesting and entertaining as well.

The progress which has been made in the packing plants of the country merely along the line of sanitation and cleanliness would seem to indicate that the need of a radical reform was necessary. These improvements, coupled with more rigid inspection of animals before and after slaughtering, practically remedy the evil which has been complained of.

Every dairyman who is in the business primarily for the money to be made rather than the improvement of his health will adopt some careful method of testing the individual milk and butter yield of different cows in his herd. It is too often true that the really profitable cows in the herd are paying the board bill of one or more spongers and loafers.

Each year there is a scarcity of help on the large farms in the northwest, and as a result the days are long and the prices paid are high. It would be a fine thing if the incoming tide of immigrants could be landed in the middle of the United States, where they would do some good, instead of being left on the coast to block up the already overcrowded cities.

When one has a cool and dry place for storing potatoes we believe it is better to dig them when they are fully ripe than to allow them to lie in the ground until late October, as is customary in a good many localities. And this is particularly true if the early fall is wet, as the tendency to rot is greater if they are left in the ground than when they are properly stored.

An Iowa woman has made her village famous by advertising a certain day each summer as chicken day. This year it was July 14, at which time she exhibited to the many spectators who assembled over 2,000 chicks newly hatched in incubators of her own invention. She has remarkable success in poultry raising, and people come from fifty miles around to witness her annual hatch.

Many long contested disputes would be averted by having the boundary lines on the farm firmly established and maintained. While it may cost something at first, one has the surety of knowing where his land begins and the other fellow's leaves off. If you can't afford to be generous don't plant your blackberries next the fence, as they're just sure to be too neighborly and possibly make lifelong enemies.

For many years our chief supply of turpentine has come from North Carolina, but the drain has been so exhaustive that the pine trees have all been killed. The present source of turpentine is from the farms farther south, where the pine forests extend for miles. Each farm consists of thousands of trees, which, though not large at the base, grow to a great height. The sap taken season after season at last begins to deteriorate until at the end of five or six years it becomes too dark for commercial use; then the tree dies. These forest farms yield immense incomes for years. Most of the labor of collecting the sap and preparing it for market is done by negroes.

BEE STINGS FOR RHEUMATISM.

If the news reports of the experiences of a resident of Jenkintown, Pa., are to be believed, beekeepers are likely to receive a fresh accession to their ranks from confirmed rheumatic patients. The person in question, a man long troubled with rheumatism, was one day visiting a friend and accidentally upset a hive of bees. Though unrecognizable when they got through with him, he noticed that his rheumatism was gone. When the disease some time later made its appearance he tried the experiment again and found it worked. The other day he took treatment from a hundred bees before a beekeepers' convention in Philadelphia, which was naturally much interested in the experiment. The cure was explained by a physician whom he consulted as due to the poison from the stings acting as an antidote upon the uric acid in the blood, to which rheumatism is due.

A friend reports that contrary to the generally accepted view in regard to the matter he is this year going to get a better crop of corn following sorghum than he has had on any of his land for a number of years past.

One tree of Whitney No. 20 will usually furnish all the apples of this variety that any family can use. They are good to eat out of hand for a few days and furnish good pickle stock, and this is about all that can be said in their favor.

One of the serious drawbacks connected with planting a variety of apple trees is found in the disadvantage encountered when one comes to market the fruit, as few varieties have the same season, or, if they do, sell well when mixed.

The total wheat crop for the year 1905 was 788,000,000 bushels, of which amount 450,000,000 bushels were winter wheat, the remainder spring, while of the total mentioned 525,000,000 bushels were consumed at home in the shape of bread and seed.

One year with another a fellow will do better to stack his grain unless he is as good as No. 4 or 5 on the thrashing list. Where the grain is properly stacked it goes through the sweat and is in much better shape to put into the bin than when it is thrashed from the shock and not properly cured and dried out.

It is an established fact that electricity is coming to be recognized as an aid to the growth of plant life. Successful experiments have been tried in Massachusetts, where the electric currents were passed through the soil by means of wires attached to batteries buried in the soil. The potatoes raised in this field were found to be larger as well as of superior quality.

The farming in the southern states is left mostly in the hands of the negro. The tendency of the times seems to be for the white man, woman and child to prefer employment in the factory rather than work in the broiling sun in the field, while with the negro it is just the opposite, the indoor confinement and rigid discipline being decidedly distasteful after the careless, easy going life on the farm.

If you borrow money of your father, mother, sister or brother pay back exactly what you borrow, no matter how small. Business methods are just as obligatory in the home as elsewhere, though often more lax. Ill feeling and inconvenience are often caused because small matters are neglected. Discharging an obligation requiring a return in money value by giving a present is poor business.

A good fly trap is made by filling a glass jar about half full of good strong soap and water solution, then covering it with a soft crust of bread which has been moistened with a little milk. Make a small hole in the center of the bread and press tightly over the top of the jar after the addition of a little sugar to attract the flies. Place this outside of the door where the flies gather and the results are surprising.

It is estimated that the best part of the rice kernel is lost through the refining process to which the rice is subjected. Most of the nutriment and much of the best flavor come from the rough portion lying next to the husk, and this is lost when the grain is rubbed and polished for American use. Foreigners, who are accustomed to eating rice a great deal, are very contemptuous of the American article and refuse to touch it.

In compliance with the terms of the lately enacted meat inspection law the South Omaha packing plants have ordered 7,000 white duck suits for their male employees and 3,000 dresses for the women. These are to be washed at the companies' expense, a clean suit being furnished each day. It will thus be seen that an agitation which was inaugurated primarily in the interest of the consumer of meat products has resulted in a vastly increased condition of comfort and cleanliness for employees in the plants affected.

Ten to one if the owner of a place looks after his rented property the tenant will likewise have more respect for it. If the fences are dilapidated, the walks broken, the window glass cracked, the plastering loose and ready to fall, the wall paper dingy and discolored when the tenant goes in, you can depend upon it that it will be considerably worse when he leaves. Half the time the property is all run down before any repairs are made at all, and then it costs a small fortune to make it fit to live in again. Then, again, don't jump at the first man that comes along who wants to rent the place. There are families and families. Some will keep a place up because it is the home, and they take pride in it, while on the other hand there are people who think nothing is worth taking care of because it belongs to some one else. Avoid the latter class.

A NEW POLICY AS TO PUBLIC LANDS.

The recent uncovering of numerous frauds in connection with the dishonest entry of public lands, especially those rich in timber reserves, coal, oil and mineral deposits, has brought government officials which have these matters in charge to the point of asking for legislation which will prevent the further passage of any such lands into the hands of private companies or corporations. As it is, practically all the coal and oil lands owned by the government in the eastern states have passed into the hands of private parties, establishing them in some of the worst monopolies which we have today. The policy of the government mentioned above, which bids fair to be put into operation in the near future, takes the view that inasmuch as the public lands belong to the whole people they should not be administered in such a way as to enrich a favored few, as has been the result of the slipshod policy which has prevailed in past years. The change will be looked upon with favor by all citizens who are interested in justice and an all around square deal.

INSECT RAVAGES.

It is estimated that the annual loss of crops by insects alone is over $300,000,000. If this be true, one cannot do better than encourage those birds and animals which destroy the worms and insects. Some of the birds which subsist almost wholly upon insect life are the swallows, martins, vireos, woodpeckers, chickadees, wrens, cuckoos, swifts and flycatchers. The robin and the bluebird will ask for a small share of grain and fruit in return for their services; but, then, it must be remembered that they come early and stay late and are very faithful. It is an interesting fact that the stomach of the very young bird is so delicate that it can only digest animal food, and this creates a demand for the insect life. Another valuable assistant is the harmless and inoffensive toad. The children should be taught not only to recognize this little animal and the birds as having a right to live, but also to regard them as valuable aids upon the farm.

TREES.

It is seldom that all the good qualities of a thing can be found in any one single individual. This is true in the matter of trees. Many people in their eagerness to see things doing about the place plant the trees which make the most rapid growth. This is a mistake. While these trees if planted may sooner bring joy and pride to the heart of the present owner, it is a waste of time and labor, and in the end means a job for some one else. As an example, a couple of rapidly growing trees which are beautiful to look upon and very popular with a majority of people are the silver maple and the Carolina poplar. Both of these are not only short lived and require much water, but they are more frequently devastated by windstorms, attacked by insects and subject to disease than the more hardy varieties. You want trees which stand the storms of winter as well as the wind and drought of summer.

THE MEAT PACKERS.

Several new situations have grown out of the passage of the meat inspection bill. One of them is that hereafter the packers will not be able to work up into food delicacies any of the diseased hogs or cattle which have heretofore had a market value sufficient to pay for their transportation to market as government inspectors will not only hereafter condemn such animals, but the law provides that these carcasses must be destroyed at once. Not being able to sell the products from such animals, it comes about very naturally that the packers will not buy them. The new situation will render it expedient for farmers to quit feeding such animals and put them out of the way as soon as disease of any kind may appear. Indications point to the fact that the operation of the new law will result in a renewed campaign for the eradication of disease among all farm animals used for food.

NEGLECTED COWS.

This is the weather when old bossy is nearly pestered to death with flies and heat. If she has a nice, cool, shady pasture to roam in she should be fairly happy, but staked out by the roadside, with a radius of fifteen feet to fight flies in, she certainly has grounds for complaint. We have known of cases where the only place the cow had to graze was by the roadside. Sometimes she was well cared for and even wore a blanket to protect her from the flies, but sometimes she has stamped around in the same place for days, and when she wasn't bellowing for a drink of water she was having a vicious time with the flies. Who could blame her if she did kick the pail over when she was milked?

In response to a request from Dean Louis E. Reber, of the School of Engineering of the Pennsylvania State College, supplemented by Judge James A. Beaver, president of the board of trustees, the Pennsylvania Railroad company has sent to this school one of its D-8 locomotives to be used by the students for testing. The board of directors of the railroad have voted to donate this locomotive "when the said college shall have provided a locomotive testing plant," and the college authorities have advised the company that it is expected that the legislature will at the next session vote a sufficient sum to completely equip a modern testing plant. When that is done, the engine, which for the present is merely loaned, will become the property of that college.

Challenged by A. A. Chase, of Scranton, to a joint debate, Speaker Joseph Cannon declined, giving as his reason that his time was being disposed of by the Congressional Campaign Committee. A gain of 47 per cent. in building operations for July in Scranton over the same month in the previous year, causes that town to think that it is on the direct road to a prosperity that is sure to double its importance and population within the next ten years. Whether it was a desire to furnish the tobaco users of Williamsport with the best kind of the natural weed, or whether it was the novelty of the undertaking that prompted Daniel Kavanaugh to start a tobacco plantation right in the city, is not known, but the fact that he owns a three-acre field of fine tobacco on the Walker farm, is assured.

After the storm it was found that three telegraph poles near the office had been struck and shattered, and the bolt had evidently followed the wires into the office.

The most persistent, pathetic and dramatic suicide committed in this part of Pennsylvania in years was that in which Mrs. Margaret Dorworth, an 80 years old resident of Jersey Shore, Sunday, carried out a tragic plan in which she was foiled two weeks ago. She awaited the approach of a fast passenger train, half a mile below the station, crawled upon the track, knelt as if in prayer, and then, with her face away from the roaring, oncoming locomotive, laid her head across the rail, and her life was gone in twinkling.—Philadelphia Record.

DESERTED, OWNERS FLEE.

Sunday morning a big touring car came down the macadam road at Elmira from Pennsylvania. In it were two people, a woman, about 40 years of age, and good looking, and a man of about the same agt, tall and slender, and wearing a gray moustache. When they reached the Soronberger farm, about half a mile North of the state line, the couple ran the car up the lane of the farm and left it there, about 200 yars from the road. They went away and left it there, and it is still there. The machine bears New York state number 31,309. It also has Indianapolis, Ind., number 530a. This is probably a city number.

The people who were with the car were dressed in automobile costume and appeared to be the owners of the machine. It is evident that they are not, however. No one knows what has become of them or to whom the machine belongs. The machine, which is a fine one, bears no name of its owner. The farmers of the state line district are greatly interested in the matter and are eager to solve the mystery.—Advertiser.

SMOOTH STRANGER LURED LUMBERMEN?

Plied With Liquor, Possibly Drugged, Two Big Fellows Come to Grief.

Leonard Russell and John McNeil, two good-natured, strapping fellows from one of the lumber camps South of here, met with an unpleasant adventure which caused them to appear before Justice Meredith and explain why they were both found in an apparently intoxicated condition on the Towanda bridge.

After hearing their story, the authorities found them guilty, but imposed no sentence aside from the costs. The young men, on the way to Towanda for an outing, fell in with a slick stranger on a train, who asked them to drink from a bottle. So friendly did the stranger get, that in aburst of confidence one of the lumbermen showed him a roll of bills. After this the invitations to drink were fast and furious, and the men claim not to remember much of anything after arriving at Towanda. Before Justice Meredith they would not admit that they had lost any money. They greatly regretted their plight and were allowed to go.

UP IN ARMS AT OVERTON.

Postmaster and Member of Grange Have Hot Argument Over Lease.

Because they each believe they are entitled to possession of the place, two citizens of Overton village remained for about 36 hours at the former home of Mrs. Lancaster, an aged woman whose home, a large frame building, is alleged to have been leased by the local grange of Overton for a headquarters and meeting hall. Joseph Francke, in the house, was besieged by D. F. O'Brien and others from Tuesday afternoon until Wednesday night of this week, when Towanda lawyers arrived on the scene and the battle is now changed from a physical to a legal one. The trouble involves te Overton grange, the local tent of Maccabees, and the entire village seems to be taking "sides" in the matter.

Joseph Francke, who is postmaster at Overton, sent Blacksmith Bowers to Towanda to retain Lilley & Wilson and the latter at once had D. F. O'Brien, Fred Heverly, J. Dieffenbach and Isaac Bailey bound over to court on forcible entry and detainer proceedings. The grange members have retained Attorney Stephen H. Smith.

It appears that the members of the grange and the Maccabees formerly rented a room together, but the latter decided recently that they needed the place exclusively. This made it necessary for the grangers to find new quarters, and D. F. O'Brien had the matter in charge. An agreement was entered into with Mrs. Lancaster, but when Postmaster Francke learned the details of the lease he declared it to be so unfair that he would not stand for it. Being interested with Mrs. Lancaster in the building, he advised her to at once repudiate the contract and deed her building over to him. This was done and Francke locked the place up, taking Mrs. Lancaster to live at his house.

But O'Brien and his friends were not disposed to give up the bargain they had made, and therefore word was soon brought to Francke that his place was being occupied. He went at once to the house, where all parties and their friends are said to have indulged in such violent exercise that marks of the battle are even now visible. The lawyers' arrival stopped the siege.

For Towanda kidney sufferers,
Have made their local reputation.
Proof lies in the testimony of Towanda people who have been cured to stay cured.

Mrs. George N. Merithew of Hawes street, says: "In the Winter of 1896 I was taken with exceedingly sharp pains in my back and was unable to do the ordinary affairs of the house. When the attack was at its height our attention was called to the advertisement of Doan's Kidney Pills. Knowing that the trouble was caused by imperfect action of the kidneys a box of the remedy was procured for me at Dr. H. C. Porter & Son's drug store on Main street. I took them as directed. After a few days the pain in my back which had been severe disappeared and I felt better in every way. My opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills has been greatly strengthened since that time owing to the fact that I have heard so many people right here in Towanda who have used them and spoken of them in the highest terms of praise."

Republican Voters, Attention!

Wednesday, Sept. 5, is the last day for assessment of taxes, and Saturday, Oct. 6, is the last day for payment of taxes to enable the voters to vote in November. Let every Republican give this his attention.

Thousands of children from the homes of Philadelphia poor and hundreds of wan-faced mothers with their babies have been given week-long sojourns among the green fields and pastures of the country during the present outing season of the Children's Country Week association, which is now nearing its close. For the past eight weeks the "Paradise Express," as the Pennsylvania special train which carries the children to their temporary homes in the vicinity of the various suburban towns is known to its little passengers, has made regular weekly trips up and down the line, taking on and discharging at almost every station batches of happy youngsters.

The Pittsburg Press is not surprised to find Mayor McClellan of New York, representing in newspaper interviews that he has investigated municipal ownership in Great Britian and on the continent and found it a complete failure, "in Great Britian particularly." In the first place, as the Press points out, Mayor McClellan has only been abroad about six weeks, and it is not understood that he went for the specific purpose of bringing municipal ownership to judgment. Poultney Bigelow thought he could investigate conditions in the Panama canal zone in 24 hours—and Secretary Taft showed him he was mistaken.

The esteemed Scranton Truth gives the assurance that there is less profanity on the streets of Scranton than there is in Philadelphia. Well, perhaps there isn't so much to swear at up there. If your street cars run faster and you have enough of them that would make a difference.—Philadelphia Press.

We like the Truth at all times—it is our duty to. But does our contemporary tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth? We doubt it.—Scranton Truth.

In Towanda, we won't have to swear until the trolley cars come, next year.

One of the most striking victories won by law officers against lawless corporations is that just achieved by Dairy and Food Commissioner Warren in his fight against the Glucose Trust. After putting up a strong bluff of an intention to fight the matter to the bitter end, the trust through its Philadelphia attorney has announced its absolute surrender.

The Reporter-Journal joins its contemporaries in complimenting the Elmira Advertiser on the splendid midsummer business edition, published Tuesday morning. The pages showed the result of long and careful work by all departments of the Advertiser's force, and the edition will help in bringing the boom of which Elmira lives in continual expectancy.

Mr. Rockefeller is reported to be preparing to establish a home for cnorus girls and to reform the feudists in Kentucky. It will be time enough to believe these when he does either.

A Michigan man has been sent to jail for 10 years for shooting another in mistake for deer. The general application of a law like that would do much to decrease the risks of the hunting season in Pennsylvania.

The grangers want trolley freights and two-cent fares—and the grangers ought to know how to get them, by this time. They must elect their own men to the Legislature.

The P., B. & E. operations, both financial and material, continue to look more like business every day. Employment for 700 men means much to this section.

When it doesn't rain the farmers are now working from "can't to can't" from the time they can't see in the morning until they can't see at night.

If King Edward really profited by that Harriman coup, judging by the howl from British investors, he was the only Englishman who did.

The foliage of the hickory in many places apears as though it had been swept by fire, the work of some kind of insect.

Even now we may have to appeal to Upton Sinclair or David Graham Phillips for "The Truth About Valparaiso."

TO BRANDER MATTHEWS, ET AL.

It is rather more than probable that Brander Matthews, Andrew Carnegie, and even President Roosevelt have given much time and thought to the matter of the much discussed phonetic spelling. The fad has had its devotees for years out of mind, but never, in our remembrance, has it received an impetus coming from such high official sanction. The claims made for the universal adoption of the system are many and to some, no doubt, impressing, but the mere sight of a paragraph of "fonetic" words leads us boldly to the prophecy, that not, at least until the present generation of whose occupation requires the continued selection and use of written words shall have passed away, will phonetic spelling have a place more than a fad confined to the fanciful few.

Sensible it may be to save a second of time in writing "blest" instead of "blessed;" but what shall we do, who, at infinite pains, learned to spell yesterday? We learned that many English words had come to exist through process of building; we learned what phonetic meant by being told that the word came from a Greek root meaning a sound and spelling phone, which should not be spelled fone. This plain exposition, if memory serves aright, was instantly grasped by a majority of the little grammar and spelling class, not so many years ago. In the same simple way, scores of words were dissected for us, their history, meaning and spelling explained, and the way pointed out by which we might decide whether a given word should be spelled with "f" or "ph," the same plan being used with all words of derivitive meaning. And it is not believed that our little school was more thorough in this branch than other similar grade school.

Is it, now, therefore, that our children have not the mental grasp to master these things? Or is it that they must be rushed through a special course of some technical instruction which will "pay;" or is it, perchance, that Brander Matthews and his clique seek merely to foist their innovation on a long-suffering public just for the joy of it? Ripe scholars, earnest men and of undoubted intentions, this fonetic vagary is yet inexplicable. And the more explained, the less clear becomes the motive. Let us have none of it.

AN EXCEPTION TO THE RULE.

The evidence in connection with the recent failure of the Milwaukee avenue bank, Chicago, continues to demonstrate the fact that the officers were in business for the purpose of robbing their patrons. The institution was a state bank, but the examinations to which it was subjected from time to time do not seem to have been very rigid.

Here in Towanda we have two banking institutions, carefully administered and both enjoying the deserved confidence of a constantly increasing number of patrons. The same is true of the banks of the county, all of which are carefully managed and are therefore worthy the confidence of the business public.

When banking affairs go wrong it is nearly always found that officials who are exepected to look after the interests of the depositors are negligent or criminal. This is just as good a time as any to say, however, that the occasional occurrence of an incident like that Chicago affair proves nothing but the fallibility of human nature. The great majority of banks, state and national, are providently conducted and wisely administered by honest and capable officials. The man who hides his money in an old stocking because one bank out of a great number is conducted by criminals for their own benefit is very foolish. Ordinarily the very safest place in the world for one's savings is the bank.

CRUSOE'S ISLAND STILL HERE.

Commenting on the press dispatch which told of the distruction by earthquake of the island supposed to have been the famous Robinson Crusoe's home, the Binghamton Herald editorially says: "Though the material island of Robinson Crusoe be wiped out of existance, that still real island of the imagination which just as surely has existance to the boy as the sun to all of us, will continue, despite the earthquakes, tornadoes and upheavals of nature. It is impossible for nature to destroy Robinson Crusoe's island. It may destroy a narrow strip of volcanic land, 18 miles long and 6 miles wid, lying 400 miles off the Chilian coast, but it will still leave untouched the verdure-clad mountains of a lonely island in the Pacific with its solitary, goatskin clad white man with his man Friday and their goats. That land of excitement and adventure will endure while the human race continues to populate the globe, and for the generations yet unborn, we thank God that it is so."

NOT A BAD SIGN.

The city of Hazleton has begun a unique experiment with a view to ridding the streets and gutters of obnoxious grass and weeds: Several days ago City Engineer Youtugman made the discovery that salt is effacious for this purpose, when the servant girl, after making ice cream, thoughtlessly tossed the salt over the grass in the yard.

There are spots and places in Main street where Commissioner Miller might, with propriety, put to use the ice cream by-product, though there those that claim that grass growing on the streets of country towns is simply a sign of a hustling trade with the independent farmer. When he brings to town his tons of hay, some seeds may fall and take root, despite the continous tramp of horses and the showers of gasoline.

NO HARD TIMES HERE.

The amount of capital that has sought investment in the manufacturing industries of Pennsylvania during the past seven years has increased by leaps and bounds.

That the Keystone State has made wonderful strides in this respect, is shown by the facts that the capital employed in its industrial enterprises has risen over half a billion dollars by 1905 as against 1900, the exact figures being $546,022,248, or an increase of 37.7 per cent.

In 1900 the money invested in the manufacturing industries of the State aggregated $1,449,814,740, while in 1905 it had increased to the enormous figures of $1,995,836,988.

These interesting figures are shown in a bulletin issued by Director North of the Census Bureau, giving a preliminary summary of the manufacturing industries of Pennsylvania in 1905 as compared with 1900. The statistics were gathered in conformity with the Act of Congress of March 6, 1902, and are confined to manufacturing establishments with a product of not less than $500. It, therefore, excludes the small trades, such at building, dressmaking, custom millinery, custom sawing and grinding, cobbling and blacksmithing.

While the figures presented show a marked increase in the capital employed in the manufacturing establishments of Pennsylvania, there has been only a slight increase in the number of such establishments for the period of 1900 to 1905. In 1905 there were 23,405 manufacturing establishments, while in 1900 there were 23,462, which is an icrease of 33 of such enterprises, or an increase of 0.1 per cent.

The value of the products of the manufacturing industries of the entire State aggregated $1,995,551,332 in 1905, as against $1,649,682,380 in 1900, showing and increase of 18.5 per cent.

There has been for the same period a remarkable increase in the number of wage earners employed at good wages. In 1905 there wehe 768,282 wage earners receiving salaries aggregating $367,960,890, while in 1900 there were only 663,960 wage earners, receiving wages amounting to $296,875,548. These figures show an increase of 15 per cent. in the average number of wage earners and an increase of 23.9 per cent. in the amount of salaries received during the period mentioned.

A notworthy increase is shown for the five-year period in the number of salaried officials, clerks and the like, employed in the manufacturing industries of the State, the increase being 50.4 per cent., while the amount of salaries of these officials has increased by 58.8 per cent. In 1905 there were 66,081 of such officials etc., while in 1900 there were 43,935. The salaries received increased from $46,145,480 in 1900 to $73,269,007 in 1905.

The statistics gathered from the Census Bureau show the total number of manufacturing establishments for the State and five of its principal cities, and also the totals for enght of the principal industries. The cities are Philadelphia, Allegheny, Pittsburg, Reading and Scranton. The statistics of industries include coke, flour and grist mill products, glass, iron and steel, leather, tanned, curried and finished, petroleum, refining and silk and silk goods.

Of the five cities mentioned above Pittsburg shows a greater increase in the number of manufacturing establishments, capital employed, the average number of wage earners, their salaries, and the value of the products. In 1905 there were 1177 manufacturing establishments as against 928 in 1900, or an increase of 26.8 per cent.; capital employed in 1905 was $202,424,240 as against $160,570,413 in 1900, an increase of 26.1 per cent.; average number of wage earners in 1906, 56,229 as against 52,540 in 1900, an increase of 7.0 per cent.; kages in 1905, $31,540,678 as against $28,018,045 in 1900; value of products in 1905, $165,428,881 as against $165,002,687 in 1900.

IT'S BEEN BROWN HERE.

The color of water in connection its purity and wholesomeness is a subject very generally discussed here at present. If the water does not appear to the eye right and does not have the natural taste of good water, it is exceedingly difficult to convince the drinker that it is safe and pure. A recent issue of the Scientfic American says editorially:

"It was long ago discovered that the natural color of pure water is blue and not white, as most of us usually supposed. Opinions have not agreed on the cause of the green and yellow tints; these, it has been discovered by W. Spring, are due to extraneous substances. Dissolved calcium salts, though apparently giving a green tint, due to a fine invisible suspension, have no effect on the color of the water when adequate precautions are taken. The brown or yellow color due to iron salts is not seen when calcium is present. The green tint is often due to a condition of equilibrium between the color effect of the iron salts and the precipitating action of the calcium salts."

The water supply in Towanda is improving, happily for all concerned, the leaks in the main from the Laddsburg srings having been stopped, but for a week it has been bad as could be. It was brown, pure mud color, and it came from the new reservoir above town. This water has now been shut off for several days, and it is hoped the springs will be adequate for the use of the borough. Meanwhile long unused wells were drawn upon and the man who was fortunate enough to have a well on his premises was a great favorite in his neighborhood.

RECORD BREAKING CROPS.

In its advance notices of its issue of Saturday, Aug. 25, Collier's Illustrated Weekly comments upon the crop reports issued by the department of agriculture, which indicate a record breaking year.

Preliminary returns put the Winter wheat crop at 493,434,000 bushels. The Spring wheat crop was estimated at 278,830,000 bushels, making a total probable wheat harvest of 772,264,000, which is more than was ever produced in any other country in the world, about 160,000,000 more than our own average production for the ten years preceding, and nearly 24,000,000 more than our greatest previous year's production, in 1901.

Along with the greatest wheat crop we have also the promise of the greatest corn crop on record—no less than 2,713,194,000 bushels. Add to this a twelve-million-bale cotton crop, an excellent tobacco crop, and crops of oats, barley, rye, and other minor cereals ranging from fair to fine, and it seems evident that the farmers of the United States will have even more money to spend, the railroads more freight to carry, and the merchants more goods to sell this year than last.

Collier's is of the opinion that the corn crop is one of vastly more importance to the United States than the wheat crop, although that is the greatest in the world. Our 2,713,000 bushels of corn this year would load a freight train extending two-thirds of the way around the globe. This crop has been raised on 95,535,000 acres of land—about twice the average devoted to wheat and the greatest ever given to corn in our history. The American cornfields are about equal in extent to the Japanese empire, and their yield in a single year would pay off the national debt of the United States.

Last year Secretary Wilson said in his annual report that if the American farmer could go on without relapse for three years longer he could look back over a decade and find that in those ten years he had produced an amount of wealth "equal to one-half of the entire national wealth produced by the toil and composed of the surpluses and savings of three centuries." One of the three years has passed, and instead of a relapse there has been an advance. This year's crops alone would pay for half the railroads of the United States.

VALUE OF THE PHILIPPINES.

It is impossible to tell, even approximately, what value the Philippines are capable of developing until railroads get in operation there—and when we speak of the Philipines now we practically mean the Island of Luzon. Some little impress of civilization has been made in the Visayas, but the exploitation of that group will be the work of the next generation, and the cleaning up and opening up of the Moro Islalnds will be the task which the grandchildren of the present workers will complete. But Luzon lies ready and ripe, and a few years will see the mines and fields and forests of that great island filled with an activity and industry which will shake them from the lethargy of the lost centuries. The concessions recently granted are already in the process of being transformed into railroads to penetrate the receses of Luzon, and when these railroads are in operations we shall begin to know clearly, for the first time, what we got for our money when we made our bargain with Spain for the possession of the Philippines. We bought Alaska for a song, and have never had occasion to repent the bargain. The Philippines came a little higher, and we threw in a naval battle and a war with the natives, but, in all human probability, the archipelago was worth all that it cost. For one thing there is in the Phillipines, it is estimated, twice as much timber as in the combined states of Washington and Oregon.

BETTER IN COUNTRY.

A London scientist says that life in a metropolis makes young children sharp, but not clever; that it often destroys their chance of ever being clever, for it hastens the development of the brain unnaturally; it makes them superficial, alert, but not observant; excitable, but withiout one spark of enthusiasm; they are apt to grow blase, fickle, discontented; they see more things than the country-bred child, but not such interesting things; they do not properly see anything, for they have neither the time nor capacity to get at the root of all the bewildering objects that crown themselves into their lives.

If the unemployed generals of the republic of Cuba would go to work raising sugar cane instead of trying to raise the other kind of Cain, they would be better off. Nothing could be more senseless, we may without exaggeration say even that nothing could be more idiotic, than a revolt against the mild, orderly and fostering government of President Palma, especially a revolt involving plans of assassination.—New York Times.

The New Orleans Picayune says this great republic should adopt the tobacco plant as the national flower. It has a pretty pink blossom, it is a native of America and its leaves are not only found in every state of the Union, but they send up incense in every known part of the globe.

And now they have gone and organized a rhinocerous trust and cornered the market. What chance has a poor man to own a menagerie while such goings on are permitted to the rich and powerful.—Philadelphia North American.

TROY'S NEW ENTERPRISE HAS ORGANIZERS HERE.

Bradford County Insurance Order Represented by Former Elmiran.

"Tom" Leyden is in Towanda. He is the man who, for 15 years devoted his time and attention to making the Elmira Advertiser the bright and newsy sheet that gave the publication its wide reputation. Mr. Leyden was a co-worker with John R. Joslyn, the lawyer-editor of the Advertiser in the '90's, and who is now managing editor of the great Buffalo News.

But Mr. Leyden has left the newspaper field, and now with F. B. Kilgore, is a district organizer of the National Mutual Relief, a fraternal insurance organization, only recently started. The new company has its home offices at Troy, and is chartered and officered by well known Bradford county men. Messrs. Leyden and Kilgore are managing the counties of Bradford, Wayne, Susquehanna and Luzerne and have a proposition which they think can't be beat.

Sawmills, shingle mills, threshing machinery, traction engines and ensilage cutters galore are all shown in operation. Several heads of prize cattle will also be on exhibition.

On Wednesday Rev. Silas Swallow, of Harrisburg, and Homer L. Castle, the Prohibiton candidate for governor, are expected to make addresses.

Mr. and Mrs. Vanness frightened away the marauder and the police have no clue to his identity.

Her Valuable Tip.

"Here's a letter from a woman," said the answers to correspondents editor, "who wants to know how to make a lemon tart."

"That's just like a woman," rejoined the snake editor. "Tell her if the lemon isn't tart to begin with she'd better consign it to the dump and let it go at that."—Chicago News.

KEEP BRADFORD'S HIGHWAYS REPAIRED.

From Constbles' Returns, Attention is Drawn to Chance to Improve.

An unusally large number of constables made returns last week to the effect that the stones had not been removed from the public highways as required by law, greatly interfering with the comfort and safety of public travel. Also that several bridges were out of repair and in dangerous condition. These returns were placed in the hands of the district attorney with instructions to call the attention of the proper officers to the matters complained of without delay.

Attention was also called to the fact that in some places index boards at the intersection of highways were not up as required by law. The law reads as follows:

"The supervisors aforesaid shall cause posts to be erected at the intersection of all public roads within their respective townships (where trees are not convenient) with boards firmly fixed thereon, and index hands pointing to the direction of such roads. On which boards shall be iscribed in large and legible characters, the name of the town, village or place to which such roads may lead, and the distance thereto computed in miles. If any supervisor shall, after ten days' personal notice, neglect or refuse to put up or keep in complete repair index boards as aforesaid, such supervisor shall, for every such offense, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten dollars. If any person shall wilfully destroy, deface, or injure any guide post or index board erected at or near any public road, or any notice put up at any public bridge as aforesaid, such person shall, for every such offense, forfeit and pay a sum not less than five dollars nor more than fifteen dollars."

To the credit of the road commissioners of Bradford county road index boards as a rule are generally up as required by law.

HECTOR LODGE, I. O. O. F.

East Troy Organization Celebrated Twentieth Anniversary.

For some time past the members of Hector Lodge, I. O. O. F., of East Troy, have anticipated and been making arrangements for the twentieth anniversary of the lodge. Last Friday evening nearly 100 members attended at the lodge room to celebrate the event. After some time was spent in a social way, M. E. Greenough, chairman of the evening, called to order and prayer was offered by Rev. W. H. S. Loller. A quartette composed of Misses Bessie and Stella VanHorn and Messrs. John VanHorn and Lloyd Cole, sang very effectively "Golden Hours." Miss Elizabeth Ball recited "My Wife's Husband,' there was another song by the quartette, and Miss Jennie Parke recited "The Book Agent." The chairman then called upon Rev. W. H. S. Loller, who responded in a very entertaining and instructive address.

The recording secretary, W. W. Brooks, gave the following statistical report: Hector Lodge was instituted Aug. 26, 1886, with the required number of charter members; there have been as high as 69 members on the roll at one time. At present the lodge has 46 in good standing. The lodge has received $6,170.26 in dues, and has paid out $5,851.04. It has lost by death five members—R. E. Webber, W. E. Greenough, Cort Darrow, George Campbell, and A. G. Baxter.

Supper was served in the hall by a few of the ladies, and was a feature of the evening that was much enjoyed. Hector Lodge has a cosy hall nicely furnished, and a surplus of funds in the hands of the treasurer. That it may have many more years of usefulness in the commuity is the wish of everyone who has an acquaintance with its good deeds.

AGED COUPLE MARRY.

Groom 81 Years Old and the Bride 60 Sweethearts in Early Days.

Levi M. Smith of Denver, Col., who was born in Plymouth, Pa., 81 years ago, and Miss Luella Cook, of Factoryville, Pa., who was born at Tunkhannock 60 years ago, visited Wilkes-Barre Thursday, secured a marriage license and were at once married in the court house by Alderman Perkins.

Mr. Smith is in the best of health, despite his advanced age, and does not look to be a day over 60. Some 30 years ago he was widely known in this valley and throughout the State owing to his prominence in horse racing circles. Hhe used to have large strings of fast horses at Lee Park race track, when that place was in its palmiest days. In his younger days he courted Miss Cook, but like many cases of love, something came between them and he married some other sweetheart. He eventually went and settled in the neighborhood of Denver, where he has an extensive cattle and horse ranch and amassed a large fortune. His wife died and after several years he became lonely and his thoughts drifted back to his first sweetheart, Miss Cook. He came east and visited his daughter, and then went to Factoryville and met his old sweetheart, who of course, had grown older but was still possessed of her pleasing and youthful spirits. He at once renewed his wooing by telling why he had come east and she consented to the marriage.

CHIEF CAMPBELL HERE.

Not Probable, However, That Department Will Make Purchase.

Former Chief William H. Campbell of the Elmira Fire department, was in town yesterday in the interests of The Eastern Hose and Fabric company, which he now represents. Samples of fire hose are now in he hands of the borough council, but it is not expected that a purchase of any great amount of hose will be made right away.

The title of chief will probably remain forever coupled with William Campbell's name. He is one of the best known firemen in New York and Pennsylvania and for 28 years was a leading spirit of the old Elmira Exempts.

Since he has gone on the road selling fire hose, the sales of his company have nearly doubled. He is remembered as one of the bravest and coolest of Elmira's professional firemen.

JOHNSON CASE ARGUED.

Decision on a Rule for New Trial Will Be Made on Monday.

The arguments on the rule for a new trial in the case of Charles Johnson, twice convicted of the murder of Maggie B. Johnson, were finished Tuesday noon. Tme matter was taken up Monday afternoon, and the entire case gone over thoroughly. Johnson's attorneys filed 13 specifications of error, one of which was that the court erred in not taking the case from the jury and directing a verdict. W. P. Wilson, Esq., and I. McPherson, Esq., represented Johnson, and District Attorney Mills and County Solicitor Maxwell, the commonwealth.

Judge Fanning announced that a decision would be given on Monday next, at the opening of the regular September term of court.

Mr. and Mrs. Manley left at once for a wedding trip, after which they will reside in Boston, where the groom has a responsible position.

Hester's Revolver.

A revolver which was owned by Patrick Hester, the notorious leader of the Mollie McGuires, who was hanged with several of his associates at Bloomsburg, was found Sunday on a little sand island in the Susquehanna near Beriwck. The recent high water had washed away the sand which covered it. It is an old fashioned 38-calibre weapon. On the butt is carved the name P. Hester.

NEW LEHIGH STATION.

Contractor Charles Kisner Will Begin Work on it This Week.

WILL BE HANDSOME BUILDING

Located Eight Hunndred Feet North of the Old Station, It Will Be Completed in Every Detail—Fourth Station Mr. Kisner Will Build.

Charles Kisner, the well known Towanda contractor, will this week begin the erection of a fine new passenger station for the Lehigh Valley in this place, to cost, when complete, approximately $18,000. Mr. Kisner has been awarded the contract and has already begun preparations for commencing work.

The new station is to be a handsome structure of buff brick with bluestone trimmings, and will stand about 100 feet North of the engine house. The ticket office window in the new building will be just 800 feet North of the ticket office window in the present station.

The building will be 24x84 feet, two stories high, with a slate roof. The water table topping the foundation will be of heavy bluestone; this will be followed by a course of brown, vitrified, rock-faced paving brick that will reach to the bluestone sill course. Above the sill course buff pressed brick will be used. The general waiting room will be located in the South end of the building; in the center of the building, on the East side facing the tracks, and occupying about half the width, will be the ticket office. The Western half of the center will be a ladies' waiting room, and opening from it the ladies' toilet room. The extreme Northern end will be devoted to a baggage room; next will come an express office, and between that and the ticket office, on the East front, a gentlemen's smoking room, off from which is the gentlemen's toliet. Between the smoking room and the office is registry window for conductors and the stairways leading to the basement and to the second story.

The interior finish will be of Georgia pine and sand-finished plaster, except that the general waiting room will have a wainscoating five feet high of white enameled brick with brown trimmings. A steam heating plant will be installed in the basement and the building will be fitted for electric lights.

Extending North from the building will be a covered passenger platform next the tracks 17 feet wide, and on both sides and the South end of the building proper there will be a canopy ten feet wide. This makes the entire length of the covered structure 475 feet long.

Mr. Kisner has done a large amount of contracting for the Lehigh Valley, having built the stations at Spencer, N. Y., Laceyville and Montrose. He has been ask to bid on a fifth station.

Ultimately the round house will be removed to a new location, but it will probably be two or three years before all the changes have been completed.

Lightning at Elwell.

Lightning struck DeWitt Whipple's barn last Tuesday in the same place where it was struck about a month ago, and did about the same amount of damage to the barn. Mr. Whipple had the threshers and the men had stopped work for the shower. Boyd Fenton was sitting on the machaine and he was struck by lightning and thrown ten feet and was unconscious for some time.

Train Six Derailed.

Lehigh Valley passenger train No. 6, due in Towanda at 1:12 a. m., did not reach Towanda Sunday morning until 5 o'clock, due to a derailment at North LeRoy. The train struck a horse and wagon, killing the driver and the animal and injuring a small boy. Several of the trucks were derailed and a wait of over three hours was occasioned.

Dwellings in Demand.

A local real estate agency having in charge the renting of more than 100 houses, is authority for the cheering statement that while several months ago they had about 20 houses available there are not now three properties for rent on their lists. And Towanda is not shouting about its boom either.

MAKING A STUDY OF STATE'S SNAKES.

State Zoologist Surface Preparing a Bulletin on Native Serpents.

In about three weeks State Economic Zoologist Surface will issue a bulletin on the snakes of Pennsylvania, in which he will describe the 24 species of serpents native in Pennsylvania, and give what he considers to be the greatest amount of information about the food of serpents ever published. "In fact," saye he, "I think the bulletin will contain more on that point than in contained in all of the literature on the subject."

Professor Surface has been collecting data, live and written, on this subject for months. He has received snakes, wriggling and dead, from every county in the State, having practically every one of the species known in Pennsylvania in his collection on the fifth floor of the north wing of the Capitol. Only recently he received a four and a half foot copperhead snake, which was photographed by himself and his assistants in a dozen different poses and acts. He also received a specimen of the green grass snake, commonly suposed to be venomous, but which Professor Surface says is not so.

This bulletin will be exceedingly valuabe to farmers, for it will furnish all kinds of information about serpents, their habits, appearance, characteristics, and above all, their manner of propagation and how they feed. Practically every bit of useful knowledge about this snake will be sifted out of the voluminous correspondence of Professor Surface upon this subject.

The same will be done with other varieties anl the lore about the copperhead will be instructive. It will be illustrated by a photograph showing the young copperhead, wrapped in its natal membranes, side by side with another, revealing the snake much alive. This will demonstrate that the copperhead does not lay eggs, but there wil be photographs of other serpents, some secured in front of the incubator in which Professor Surface has been hatching the reptiles to further his studies.

In addition data about the contents of the stomach of some hundreds of snakes will be given to show on what the various species feed.

READY FOR THE FAIR?

Every Farmer in the County Should Display Year's Banner Crop.

It has been a number of years since the crops throughout Bradford county have been as good as the present year, and at this time it would seem proper to suggest that the people begin to think about placing an exhibit at the coming Bradford County fair. It is a duty every farmer owes his calling to place on exhibitnon to the public the best products of his soil, as it enlivens he interest and encourages and stimulates the lax to bring their products up to the proper standard, and shows to the public in general and the consumers at large that Bradford county soil is the equal if not the superior of any in northern Pennsylvania.

It also shows that the Bradford county farmer is alive and progressive and that he is proud to stand behind the products of his labor and his soil. Arrange at once for your exhibits; get in communication with the secretary of the fair association, and join forces with the officers of the coming fair in making this the banner fair of this banner agricultural county.

He also caught one that weighed a little over 10 pounds and measured 28 inches.—Scranton Tribune.

THE LATEST MOVES ON THE NEW RAILROAD.

Construction Work on the P., B. & E. Advances Rapidly Every Day.

In addition to the sixty-ton steam shovel which arrived last week and is new being transported to East Canton, three more shovels have been ordered for use at various points on the line between this place and Powell. Contractor Holbrook stated to a representative of this paper on Wednesday of this week that it is the intention to increase the force of laborers at the rate of about 100 a week.

Graders are at work at a number of places along the line, and just as soon as the rest of the equipment arrives the road will be pushed to completion. A number of dump cars came this week, and 100 will be in operation when all have arrived.

Six more locomotives have been ordered, which will make ten that will be used in the work of construction. Mr. Holbrook also stated that work would soon be started back of the boro, but noinformation as to the route through Canton was given.—Canton Sentinel.

DIAMOND IN A WELL.

Visitor to Canton Lost a Valuable Gem in Deep Water.

Mr. Peterson of Niagara Falls, who is visiting his wife's parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Kingsland, is minus a $250 diamond ring, which he lost in a peculiar manner on Saturday evening last. He went to the well in the rear of B. J. Davisons's residence to draw some water during the evening, and the ring caught on the chain to which the bucket was attached, tearing it from his finger.

The well is 65 feet deep and had eight or ten feet of water in it, which was bailed out and the well thoroughly cleaned, but to no purpose, as no trace of the ring could be found. As the well has a smooth rock bottom, which was thoroughly cleaned, it is a mystery where the ring went to, as it is an almost impossibility for it to have gone into a chevice in the wall on the way down.—Canton World.

WOULD BE ANNEXED

Said That Both Palma and Rebels Want to Join Union.

PROPERTY OWNERS FOR IT

Declared That Business Men Believe Annexation to United States Would Be Beneficial, but Big Trusts Oppose the Plan.

Washington, Aug. 28.—Behind the scenes of the Cuban revolt great commercial forces and tendencies are today struggling to make themselves felt in the direction of affairs. There are immense interests that want Cuba annexed to the United States; others, perhaps more powerful, that do not. But it can be set down as absolutely true that the scenes in the revolutionary drama on which the curtain is just rising are little more than a painted panorama intended for the public to see, while behind it the real interests are conducting a very different sort of struggle to control the destinies of the island.

Cuba is a tremendous commercial potentiality. Its development in character, rapidity and direction depends entirely on political conditions. The great property interests of the island want annexation. The great industrial trusts of the United States handling Cuban products do not want annexation.

From a gentleman who has been much in Cuba recently, who has large financial interests there and is associated with the great railroad and commercial developments in the island, the following statement of the situation is obtained. He is frankly in favor of annexation and believes it will come. He says:

Would Escape Tariff.

"The first argument for annexation is the tariff. The United States is Cuba's market. In 1897 we imported from Cuba $18,000,000 of merchandise and in 1905 $86,000,000. Less than $3,000,000 worth of this great amount came in duty free. By the amount of the immense duties paid on this trade Cuba's commerce is hampered. The restriction would be removed by annexation.

"For these very reasons the beet sugar and cane sugar interests of this country oppose annexation. The tobacco producers oppose, and the California and Florida fruit growers will be among the most powerful opponents.

"Cuba cannot hope for annexation except following occupation by the United States to preserve order. Until there is a thoroughly effective appearance at least of serious disorder the United States will not step in. Once in, the Cubans believe, she will never again get out.

"There are more than forty American colonies in the island, and more than $5,000,000 of American and nearly as much European money has been invested there in three years.

"All big property interests in Cuba want annexation. Palma and his government want it. His opponents in this revolution want it. They are trying to force it. The people generally want it.

"There is no other cause for trouble. Cuba has no land taxes and hardly any other except import duties. The government has more money from imports than it knows what to do with. The people are prosperous as never before. I have been all over the island in the last year, and from knowledge say that labor is extremely hard to get at two and one-half times what it was paid before independence was secured.

In a Prosperous State.

"Schools have been established, roads are building all through the country of the best macadam, waterworks, electric plants and street cars are being installed in cities. Sir William Van Horne, who built the Canadian Pacific, has completed nearly 600 miles of new railroad and has let contracts for twelve branch lines to be built this year.

"In short, Cuba is doing exceedingly well, but knows she would do much better if a part of the United States. The workings of the different influences I have outlined are plain and simple. I cannot attempt to fathom the attitude of mind of the Washington administration, but I am sure that it is the most important uncertain factor in the situation. It is plain enough where the property interests in Cuba stand, both domestic and foreign controlled. They want annexation, stability, the American market and the immense development that would follow.

"The reasons why the sugar, tobacco, fruit and some related interests in the United States oppose are just as apparent. There will doubtless be skepticism about my statement that both Palma and the rebels want annexation. But it is true. They merely have different ideas of how to get it. Palma would be good and deserve it; the rebels would be bad and force it. That is all. The administration in Washington is maintaining a demeanor of unconcern which I cannot but regard as assumed. The revolt is gaining ground. I believe it will bring a crisis very soon, and that the question of what to do with the island will presently be squarely up to the American nation. In the end there can be only one solution—annexation."

SHARP FIGHTING REPORTED.

Cuban Commander Tells How the Insurgents Were Routed.

Havana, Aug. 28.—Acting Secretary of the Interior Montalvo had a long conference with General Rodrigues, the government forces and the insurgents near Cienfuegos, province of Santa Clara, were contained in the following dispatch from Colonel Valle, who commanded the detachment of rural guards and volunteers engaged:

"Insurgent parties under Guzman and Portela have camped near Abreus and commenced harassing the rural guards. We proceeded toward Abreus with a force of rural guards and volunteers and encountered the revolutionists, who were entrenched in the town of Abreus. We routed the enemy, killed many revolutionists and captured a quantity of arms and ammunition and a number of horses.

Revolutionists Held Town.

"We continued our operations to Rodas, where our advance guard was charged by the revolutionists who were holding the town and a little fort called De Piedre fort, where fierce fighting continued. The enemy was persistent, but the insurgents were finally dispersed and ran away in different directions, leaving a large number of men killed in the streets. The full extent of the revolutionists' casualties is not yet known.

"Once in possession of the town, we got in touch with the detachment of rural guards commanded by Lieutenant Toro. Our forces fought valiantly throughout the engagements. Later the enemy returned and rushed the town, but the revolutionists were again scattered by our machete charges."

Colonel Valle expresses the opinion that the engagements fought in Santa Clara will prove to have been of great importance toward ending the insurrection in that province.

A band of insurgents fired a volley at a passenger train on the Western railway west of Alquizar, Havana province, thirty-three miles by rail southwest of the Cuban capital. Several bullets hit the cars, but nobody was wounded.

INSURGENT SHIP SAILS.

Loaded With Arms and Supplies, She Leaves United States.

New York, Aug. 28.—The Andra, a two masted schooner secured by representatives of the Cuban revolutionary forces, has sailed from the United States loaded with arms and supplies for the insurgents.

The exact point of clearance is a secret well guarded by the revolutionary agents in this city, but it is understood that the Andra sailed late Monday from Philadelphia. It is declared that the real name of the schooner is not Andra, but that the name was employed to prevent the discovery of its real source of purchase. The schooner has auxiliary power. An American formerly in the United States navy is in command.

The Andra eluded the federal authorities after waiting four days to drop down the Delaware river and past Cape May.

The captain and the crew are liable to arrest on the high seas for violation of the international laws against filibustering.

Representatives of the Cuban junta in this city profess to know nothing of the Andra, which is natural in view of the attitude taken by the federal authorities toward previous Cuban filibustering expeditions.

Two other small ships are being fitted for sea and will sail as soon as the arms and ammunition are on board.

The exact point of landing is unknown save to the agents who purchased the ship and to the captain of the Andra. The first cargo consisted of rifles packed in dry goods cases and quantities of ammunition. No extra food supplies were carried, as it is declared that the insurgent forces mobilizing on ground of their own choosing are not in need of rations.

George Moscrip of Towanda, was called on to make a few remarks which he did briefly, the time being limited.

White.

For the first time since Philander and Edwin White came to the Welles and Ely mills in the early forties, the descendants of Ebed and Sibyl (Lilley) White gathered together in a family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Messersmith, on Aug. 22. Ebed White was one of the early settlers of New York state, and was survived by five sons, Philander, Sidney, Henry, Edwin, and Charles. Shortly after the death of Henry, his sons joined their uncles, Philander and Edwin, who had become permanently located in this section and participated in the early development of this part of the Susquehanna valley. The baskets after a time were emptied and the tables well filled and nearly 70 partook of a sumptuous dinner. The meeting for business was called to order by O. L. Smiley, president, who made a few appropriate remarks in regard to the early history of the family who settled in this valley over a century ago. A letter had been received from Mrs. E. C. Smith, granddaughter of William Smiley, who was the youngest brother of our paternal grandfather, John Smiley. The two families were separated many years ago and this letter gave a sketch of his family. The following officers were lected: O. L. Smiley, president; W. M. Foster, vice-president; H. A. Reporter-Journal Patterns

From the Latest NEW YORK FASHIONS

Pattern For a One Piece Dress With a Guimpe Designed by Martha Dean—No. 4037.

In this day of simplicity in frocks for the little folks the one piece dress is a great favorite. A dress of this kind is shown, belted in below the waist and completed by a guimpe. It may be opened in back or slipped on over the head. The only seams are those under the arms, the shoulder being cut on a fold, so that the front and back are in one piece. This means little labor and a very practical little frock. The guimpe may be made of any thin washing fabric and match the slip or not. The edges of the latter may be finished with a narrow embroidery or washable braid. For the medium size the dress requires two and three-eighths yards of thirty-six inch material. No. 4037, sizes, 2, 4, 6 and 8 years.

DIRECTIONS FOR ORDERING

Send 10 cents to this office, give number of this pattern, No. 4037, and state size desired. It will then be sent to you by mail postpaid. Be sure to write plainly and always give full address. Several days must be allowed for delivery of pattern.

Patterns For One of the New Linen Gowns by Martha Dean—Nos. 6700 and 6701.

Linen carries with it an air of refinement and quality which places it at once above the mediocrity of other washing fabrics. Until within a few years it was considered very choice and held at prices which debarred the small purse, but this year we find excellent qualities of this same material at prices within reach of all. A very smart shirt waist gown of linen is shown which has won many admirers. The panel effect in waist and skirt is very chic and becoming, while the sleeves in three-quarter length and buttoning over on the upper side are very smart. The tucks give excellent lines to the back and extra fullness to the front. A tuck at each side of the front panel ends below the hip. The skirt is circular, with the straight front panel, and proves unusually graceful. Linen, rajah, pongee, silk or madras may serve as material. For the medium size eight and a quarter yards of thirty-six inch goods are needed. Two patterns—No. 6700, sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure; No. 6701, sizes, 29 to 39 inches waist.

DIRECTIONS FOR ORDERING

Send 20 cents to this office, give numbers of these patterns, Nos. 6700 and 6701, and state sizes desired. They will then be sent to you by mail postpaid. Or either of the patterns will be sent for 10 cents. Be sure to write plainly and always give full address. Several days must be allowed for delivery of pattern.

LUZERNE COUNTY FAIR. FAIR NOW ON.

First Annual Fair of New Association, Result of Year's Work.

Altogether the biggest thing in the way of a county fair that has ever been conducted in Northeastern Pennsylvania opened on Monday morning in Wilkes-Barre, on the grounds of the Luzerne County Fair association.

The fair grounds are within easy walking distance of the heart of the city and a large sum has been spent in putting them in shape. The sum of $25,000 has been spent on the grand stand alone, and the race track is accounted one of the fastest in the East. The racing program promises to be unusually interesting. Purses aggregating $11,000 have been offered for the harness events, of which there are to be 15, and over 150 horses are entered, including many from the grand circuit. Frank B. Walker will be the starting judge. The big event will be run on Thursday. The purse for this race is $2,000, and there will be at least ten starters.

The fair will be open not only throughout the day, but each night as well. There wil be two running races each night, best two out of three heats.

Over 2,500 birds have been entered and cattle from as far away as New Hampshire and Indiana. The sum offered in premiums is $20,000.

There will be a big free show twice daily on an open air stage directly in front of the grand stand, and there will be a midway lined with scores of attractions, 650 feet long.

If the weather man does his duty during the coming week, Wilkes-Barre will be the scene of the most elaborate event ever produced in Northeastern Pennsylvania. Preparations have been under way for the past six months for this exhibition, and that it will transcend anything of the sort ever conducted hereabouts is a foregone conclusion.

Strange Death.

Excitement at finding a hornet's nest in a field is believed to have caused the sudden death of Jerome Tully, a farmer, of Preston, Lackawanna county. Mr. Tully was working in a hay field when he, unaware, came upon the hornets' nest. He hastily placed a pile of hay over it and applied a match. Stepping back out of the way of the hornets, he fell over dead from heart failure. He was 24 years old.

Already Getting Ready.

To entertain the next firemen's convention, in 1907, Galeton has already raised a fund of $1500. Much of the credit of securing the convention for the Potter county town is given to President M. J. McMahon, superintendent and director of the Buffalo & Susquehanna Railroad, who is one of the most enthusiastic volunteer firemen in Northwestern Pennsylvania.

Relics of Canal Days.

The last vestige of what was once one of the important industries of the Wyoming valley is being removed by the demolishing at Rupert of the last three boats which were used on the Wyoming branch of the Pennsylvania canal which traversed the valley and by which millions of tons of coal, iron and ore were transported.—Pittston Gazette.

A Big Engine.

The people of Sayre have had an opportunity to inspect the largest locomotive in the world, which has just been completed for the Great Northern railroad company and was en route from Philadelphia. The locomotive weighs 250 tons and is 85 feet in length. The big machine went through Towanda on its way west.

Fingers in Buzz Saw.

Buy Hair at Auction?

At any rate, you seem to be getting rid of it on auction-sale principles: "going, going, g-o-n-e!" Stop the auction with Ayer's Hair Vigor. It certainly checks falling hair; no mistake about this. It acts as a regular medicine; makes the scalp healthy. Then you must have healthy hair, for it's nature's way.

SUIT BROUGHT AGAINST DR. DENNISON.

Stephen Danton Takes Action Against Well Known Physician.

Papers promising interesting developments were Monday filed with Prothonotary Gordon, thus becoming matters of public record. Stephen Danton, a Lehigh Valley engineer and a resident of Sayre, is the plaintiff in a suit brought against Dr. L. B. Dennison, a well known Sayre physician, and in the complaint, Danton sets forth that he has suffered alienation of his wife's affection; that his wife, Belle Danton has so far transferred her affections that she refused to leave the house, belonging to Dr. Denison in which the plaintiff, with his wife and Dr. Denison have been residing. For the injury thus said to be inflicted, Danton demands $5,000 and that the defendant be held in $10,000 bail. Maynard and Son, Athens attorneys, filed the papers Monday.

Back of this new move by Danton lies a previous story which relates that Dr. Dennison took measures before Justice Nelson of Sayre, to attach Danton's household goods, the physician claiming that the engineer owed him money. The documents were defective, however, and the attachment was Monday dissolved. Then came Danton's charge.

SALVADORE MAKES MORE WORK.

Troubles Seem to Multiply for Foreigner, Who is Again Wanted.

The explanation of the mysterious note left at the Ulster station by an Italian who said he had killed a man and fled, came to the local authorities next day, and it develops that no murder has been done. The wild news contained in the note was furnished by an illiterate Italian laborer who mistook the translation. The note was from the unfortunate Pongee Salvadore, the man whom Boss Walsh assaulted and then had arrested and who was out on bail for a hearing yesterday.

Believing that he had little show in a legal fight against Walsh, Salvadore jumped his bail, leaving $50 collateral with his surety, and started for Cortland, N. Y. An officer is on his trail now, it being desired to go on with the case.

An Easy Solution.

Superintendent Sharp, of the Susquehanna division of the Erie, recently assued an order that greatly facilitates the loading and unloading of passengers on the fast trains. He has adopted what is known as the "western method," which consists in the conductor and trainmen of the trains educating the passengers to make an exit from the front end of the cars only and the passengers taking the cars entering from the rear. This is a simple rule which, if adhered to, enables the trains to get away from the station in almost one-half the time taken by the old method.

Engineer Breaks an Arm.

Clayton E. Knapp, a well known Lehigh Valley engineer whose home is in Sayre, is suffering from what physicians call a comminuted fracture to both bones of his right arm, caused by a door of a freight car being carelessly left open. Mr. Knapp drove an engine pulling the second section of train No. 4 to Easton on Thursday, and after reaching that city was ordered to run the engine light back to Mauch Chunk. On the trip a freight car door swung outward and struck the engineman's arm as it projected from the cab window.

Age Limit Dropped.

Railroads entering Pittsburg are becoming distressed over the scarcity of labor to handle the rapidly increasing traffic. With the movement of grain from the west beginning and the usual fall increase of business, the roads are finding it necessary to sort to many expedients to secure help. A few years ago they all adopted an age limit, above which they would refuse to employ men. In some instance this has been raised and in others discarded altogether.

Abe Campbell Held.

The case of Abe Campbell of Litchfield, arrested on three warrants issued at the istance of Sylvester Green will come before the present grand jury. Campbell was taken before Justice Johnson at Athens and waived a hearing, whereupon the justice held him in $300 bail. Campbell is the man whom Green charges with running off with Green's wife, children and household furniture.

Consumption Hospital Burned.

The main building of the Grand View Sanitarium, an institution for the treatment of consumptives located near Oil City, was destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of $5,000, which is partly covered by insurance. The institution contained 196 patients, all of whom escaped from the building.

Luzerne Politics Hot.

A few minutes before the Democratic party registrations closed at Wilkes-Barre, George R. McLean caused considerable surprise by registering for congress, despite the fact that John T. Lenahan, the party leader to whom he had been faithful, is a candidate.

Girls' "Moveable Feast."

A progressive dinner in honor of Misses Esther Wilt of Towanda, and Alice Colony of Troy, was given at the homes of Misses Mabel Hagar, Maud and Pauline Brown, Charlotte Martin, Florence Walter and Minnie Dunbar in Canton on Tuesday night of last week.

TOBACCO BUYERS PRAISE THE CROP.

Local Growers Favored Thus Far By Weather, Report Good Conditions

Tobacco buyers have been through the valley and contracted for a number of crops at prices ranging from ten to fifteen cents per pound in the bundle. This is the best price paid for years and unless storms or frost injure the crop it will be large and prove a bonanza to growers. The quality and quantity are both above the average. Most growers are selling early, for though the price increased last year, it is not thought that present quotations will be much increased and the price is fair any way so many contracts tre signed.—Westfield Free Press.

Conditions are very much the same in this section of the Susquehanna valley. Buyers from Elmira, Binghamton and elsewhere have been makinng the Ward House headquarters for several days past, and report good crops, for which they are willing to pay good prices.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

State Convention At DuBois—New Officers Announced.

The thirty-ninth annual convention of the Knights of Phythias of Pennsylvania opened Aug. 21 in DuBois Clearfield county. The returns of the elections held during July by the subordinate lodges show that the following officers were elected to serve during the incoming term: Grand Chancellor, T. W. Conway, Oakdale; grand vice chancellor, George W. Allen, Pittsburg; grand prelate, James E. Watkins, Taylor; grand master-at-arms, James A. Steese, Mt. Holly Springs; grand keeper of R. and S., George Hawkes, Philadelphia; grand master of exchequer, Julius Mountnay Philadelphia; grand outer guard, Thomas K. Newell, Chester.

There was no election for grand inner guard, none of the 13 candidates receiving a majority of the votes cast.

Will Enforce Quarantine Rules.

But little attention has been paid in many cases to the regulations of the board of health regarding quarantine, and people have been allowed to come and go regardless of the rules, which prescribe that no one but the attending physician may visit a quarantined house. The board of health has determined to enforce its rules, and hereafter any person other than the attending physician entering a quarantined house will be arrested and dealt with accordin gto law.

Boy Sheriff Mixed.

Chemung county's new sheriff, Stanley Day, who was recently appointed to fiill the vacancy caused by Sheriff McDowell's removal by Governor Higgins, now has troubles of his own, caused by breaking into a house which was quarantined for diphtheria, for the purpose of arresting and escaped chicken thief. The health officer threatens to prefer charges against the sheriff. The quarantined house is located on "Grasshopper hill."

Davis—Foster.

Mis Janette C. Foster, daughter of Fred Foster of North Towanda, and William H. Davis of Pittston, were united in marriage on Wednesday of last week by Rev. J. S. Stewart of the Presbyterian church. Mr. Davis is an architect and vice-president of the Drury Mfg. Co. The bride made a lovely appearance in a traveling dress of gray and a black picture hat. Mr. and Mrs. Davis left Towanda on an early train for New York city.

Up Hill and Down.

The Montrose branch of the Lehigh Valley road is probably the most curious piece of railroad engineering in the East. The road is single tracked and in the entire length there is not a single mile of straight or level track. It is one continuous series of curves and grades and it is believed that it can be operated with more satisfactory results by electricity.—Susquehanna Transcript.

Careless Cost a Leg.

George Wilson, a special officer and airbrake inspector of the Auburn division of the Lehigh Valley, suffered a terrible injury to the lower half of his right leg in the Sayre yards Sunday afternoon, and later the member was amputated at the Packer hospital. Wilson was riding on the bumpers and the cars were shoved together catching his leg.

MACAFEE COMPANY MAKES LOWEST BID.

Work of Building State Road May Go to Athens Firm.

The bids for building the state road from the Chemung river bridge to Milan have been tabulated, the lowest being submitted by the Macafee Concrete company of Athens. Whether or not the Macafee company is awarded the contract depends upon what Booth & Flynn, the next lowest bidders mean by the term "native sandstone."

There were in all six bidders, with the Macafee Concrete company submitting three based on the use of different material, they being $32,924.49, $32,471.94, and $44,549.99. But one bid, $34,076.76, was submitted by Booth & Flynn of Pittsburg. The other four bids were several thousand dollars higher than these. In the Macafee company's bid "gravel from the Macafee beds" is specified and in the Booth & Flinn bid "native sandstone" is specified, the other material being identical. If "native sandstone" is construed to mean "Belgian block" then the Pittsburg people are about $10,000 lower than any other bidder. The specifications call for the completion of the work within eight months from the signing of the contract. The roadway will be 16 feet wide.—Athens News.

ROOSEVELT HONORS TOWANDA LAWYER.

R. A. Mercur Named on Important Committee of United States Bar.

Distinguished preferment is the lot of Rodney A. Mercur, of Towanda, who is now on his way to St. Paul, Minn., where he will attend the annual convention of the United States Bar association.

Attorney Mercur, whose father was a chief justice of the Pennsylvania courts, has been made one of a committee of three, named by President Roosevelt, to take up, as representatives of the United States Bar association, the matter of insurance legislation throughout the country.

Attorney Mercur left Towanda on Friday, going to Chicago, where he joined the General Solicitor of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad, who is in charge of an Eastern delegation of lawyers, headed by Judge Alton B. Parker, candidate in 1904 for presidential honors.

"GENTLEMAN PLAYERS" NOT FAST ENOUGH.

Monroeton Boys Have Sport With Some of Towanda's Old Timers.

A picked-up team of Towanda ball tossers drove down to Monroeton Saturday afternoon where they went down to a crushing defeat before the onslaught of the Monroeton big sticks. So magnificent was the victory of Towanda's Southern suburb that even a detailed score was unobtainable. Eighteen or 20 to 4 was the result, there being no doubt as to how few scores Towanda made, but some uncertainty as to how many Monroeton made. They came in two at a time in one instance, which mixed the scorer.

In Police Circles.

The police supect a miscreant of being responsible for the darkness of the streets on Thurslay night. PAYNE-KLINE WEDDING WAS BRILLIANT AFFAIR.

Beautiful Ceremony in Which Athens Girl Was the Bride.

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth M. Payne to Henry S. Kline took place on Tuesday evening, Aug. 21, at the residence of her father, S. R. Payne, Esq., at Athens.

At a quarter before eight to the soft tones of the wedding march by the Aeolian orchestra, the bride, unattended save by her father, entered the parlor, where she was met by the groom and the marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. A. F. vonTobel, pastor of the Presbyterian church of which the bride has been a member since childhood. Only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom and a very few intimate friends were present.

The bride's gown was most exquisite, of soft white lace, worn with a veil and wreath and she carried a bouquet of lillies of the valley. She is well known here and at Athens, the family residing in Towanda for a number of years before going to Duluth. The groom is from the old and sturdy stock of Hollanders or German Palatines who peopled the Mohawk valley nearly 200 years ago. He is a native of Amsterdam, N. Y., graduated at Union College and studied law in Albany. He has been in North Dakota seven years and is now a resident of Anamoose, where he is serving his second term as judge of McHenry county, and is a popular candidate for the third term.

Immediately after the marriage ceremony a general wedding reception was given, attended by about 200 residents of the valley. The parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kline of Amsterdam, received with Mr. and Mrs. Payne.

The house was appropriately decorated with the flowers of the season, each room having its special color scheme. The parlor where the marriage ceremony was performed was especially beautiful with festoons of smilax serving as a background for bouquets of tall asters, dahlias and other flowers of pale pink, the favorite colors of the bride. The wedding bell was of pink dahlias.

Later in the evening the young couple started for their home at Anamoose, North Dakota, and will make several stops on their wedding journey.

Elaborate refreshments were served during the reception. The wedding gifts were numerous and most beautiful.
